

Abstract:

This study indicates that the productivity of Eucalyptus plantations in the Gezira irrigated scheme may be correlated with irrigation quantity and intervals. A productivity trend as from southern to northern Gezira is shown to have direct relation to water quantity per year.